

Annotation of the subject “The Foreign Language (English)”

The purpose of the subject is to acquire the level of knowledge, skills and abilities that will ensure: effective and flexible use of language in public life, education and professional activities; spontaneous communication with native speakers; free access to information from various written or oral sources; ability to speak without difficulty; conscious possession of grammatical structures; expression of own opinion on a certain problem.

The objective is to improve and further develop knowledge, skills and abilities of foreign language proficiency, acquired at the bachelor's and master's degree programs, in different types of speech activities.

The student must:

know: the word order in a simple sentence, the formation of plural in nouns, pronouns (personal, possessive, interrogative, indefinite, negative, reflexive, relative), the use of nouns in a possessive case, the verb to be, types of questions, the structure there + to be, degrees of comparison, impersonal sentences, modal verbs and their equivalents, formation and use of time forms in the active voice, ways of expressing the future action, formation and use of time forms in the passive voice, conditional moods of verbs, three types of conditional sentences, sequences of tenses, the direct speech and the reported speech, the non-finite forms of the verb: the infinitive, the gerund, the participle and constructions with them.

be able to: make dialogue in accordance with the educational situation, using all kinds of questions; make a conversation and an oral message on the topics; discuss topics and make dialogue in accordance with the educational situation within the spheres of communication determined in the program; read, translate and make summary of the professional texts; write summary and fill in a questionnaire.